Understanding Gender Identity and Expression and Its Impact in the Workplace

Presented by Shipman & Goodwin LLP as part of our "In Community" Series

Free Registration

About the Discussion

Please join our panel of distinguished experts to learn about the changing landscape relating to gender identity and expression. The panel will address recent legislative changes aimed at protecting gender identity and expression in the workplace and in public accommodations from legislative, legal and personal perspectives. In addition, the panel will focus on the history of discrimination affecting transgender and gender non-conforming individuals that was the catalyst for these recent legislative changes.

Panelists

Beth Bye
Connecticut State Senator representing citizens of the 5th Senate District

Jennifer Levi, Esq.
Transgender Rights Project Director at Gay & Lesbian Advocates and Defenders and Professor of Law at Western New England University School of Law

Jerimarie Liesegang, Ph.D.
Director, Connecticut TransAdvocacy Coalition

Our "In Community" Series

This is the third segment of Shipman & Goodwin's "In Community" series, a series of panels that the firm launched in Fall 2010 to focus on a variety of issues facing our workforce and community. The first session, Working With the Deaf and Hard of Hearing Population: A Case Study Under the ADA, featured speakers from the American School for the Deaf and included an informative discussion of cross-cultural communication between the hearing and Deaf communities, sub-cultures within the Deaf community and identified potential areas of miscommunication and misunderstanding of the Deaf and hard of hearing communities. The Spring 2011 segment, Race and Cultural Identity in the Working Environment, focused on racial and cultural diversity in the workplace including cultural stereotypes, biases, comfort zones and best practices for businesses and organizations. If you would like to receive information about the next panel in this series, please contact:
