Joseph Miller (Joe) is an associate in Shipman's Employment and Labor and School Law practice groups. He advises, assists and counsels employers, including schools, on an array of labor, employment, and personnel matters. Joe served as a teacher in the Hartford Public School system for several years before earning his law degree, and he brings a unique perspective to our school law clients.

Prior to joining Shipman, Joe served as a law clerk to the Honorable Nora R. Dannehy at the Connecticut Supreme Court. While in law school, he interned at the United States Attorney's Office, District of Connecticut, and for the Honorable Vanessa L. Bryant, United States District Court for the District of Connecticut. He was also an articles editor for the Connecticut Law Review and served on the Connecticut Moot Court Board.
